

President Strongly Endorses Nixon

Says He Would Be Happy With VP on Ticket

Comments Follow Heavy Write-in In New Hampshire

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he would be very happy to run for re-election with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The President at a news conference gave his strongest endorsement to date of the vice president.

The chief executive, in what he hoped would be his final public discussion of the matter until the Republican convention in August, said he was very happy to have Nixon as his friend and associate in government.

Then the chief executive emphasized that he would be very happy to have Nixon on any political ticket on which he, the President, was a candidate.

Asks Segregation Study

Mr. Eisenhower's latest comments on Nixon followed on the heels of the heavy write-in vote received by the vice president in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary balloting. New Hampshire Gov. Lane Dwinell said that "if the trend continues, it could be interpreted as a mandate" to the Republican convention to renominate Nixon as Mr. Eisenhower's running mate.

Other news conference highlights: Mr. Eisenhower urged counsel patience and understanding in dealing with segregation issue in the South. He deplored the activities of extremists on either side of the question. He endorsed the idea of the creation of a real investigative body by Congress to study the matter.

2. He called for speed in passing the farm bill. The planting season already begun in the South and soon will start in other parts of the country. He said a farm bill is needed immediately. He deferred comment on the Senate action Tuesday in voting 100 per cent parity price supports for wheat grown in this country for human consumption.

3. He expressed friendship for both Great Britain and Greece. He said the United States is ready to do anything reasonable and practicable to help them reach a solution of their dispute within the framework of the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

4. He said this country had not definitely decided against letting Israel buy arms.

Like a Brother

Mr. Eisenhower's apparently full endorsement of Nixon was delivered to the news conference with the prior knowledge of the vice president. They had a half-hour meeting Tuesday.

The President said last week that it was up to Nixon to chart his own future political course, then tell him what he wanted to do. Asked if Nixon had done this, the President said simply that Nixon knew what he was going to say this morning.

Obviously mindful of reports that he might "dump" Nixon as a running mate this year, the President likened his relations with Nixon to those of a brother. He said anyone who attempted to drive a wedge between Nixon and him would have no more success than if they attempted to drive a wedge between the chief executive and his brother.

His President's discussion of Nixon was not volunteered, however. It came when the chief executive was asked how he reacted to the heavy write-in vote for Nixon in the New Hampshire preferential primary.

Mr. Eisenhower said that apparently lots of people in New Hampshire agreed with what he had said in praise of Nixon last week.

Then Mr. Eisenhower said that he had an additional comment to make, and that after that would not answer another question about Nixon until August.

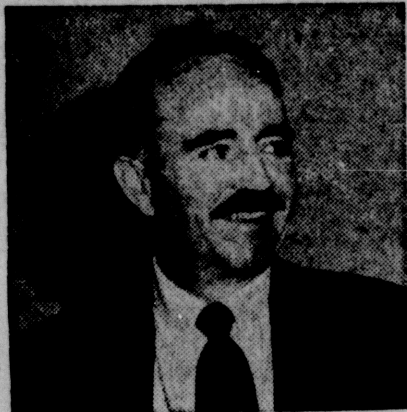

It was at this point that the President spoke with feeling of the futility of attempting to drive a wedge between Nixon and him. They are very close, he continued, and he would be happy to have Nixon on the ticket with him again.

Richard Applegate, NBC Correspondent Held by Reds, To Address Dinner Club

Richard Applegate, veteran newspaper man of 31 years' foreign service and the NBC correspondent who was seized by the Chinese Reds while sailing his own pleasure craft in neutral waters off Hong Kong and held a Communist prisoner for 18 months, will be the guest speaker of the Southern Illinois Dinner Club Thursday evening, March 22, at the Kurto Country club. The dinner meeting will begin promptly at 6:30 p. m.

Richard Applegate

Applegate had been southeast Asia bureau manager for more than four years before taking an assignment with NBC to cover the situation in denaturalized Formosa. He was just realizing a dream of 20 years (that of owning his own sailing yacht) when a Chinese Red gunboat swooped down on him in the Spring of 1953, commanded him to follow it and took him and his two friends and two-man crew to a Communist camp, and there held him prisoner until the fall of 1954.

For the first seven and a half months of his imprisonment, he was held in solitary confinement. That was the beginning of the brainwashing treatment," he explains. "There is no horror or brutality to compare with it. If a man is so unlucky as to stay alive, he usually goes insane."

Applegate, however, managed to hold on to both life and sanity. But he was forced to "confess" to things he knew were not true. "It was the only chance of escape and an obligation to tell the world of the aims of the Communists to gain world domination."

"America," says Applegate, "is thoroughly detested by the Reds. We are the only real threat to their conquest of the world. Make no lights."

New Tax Plan Offered by House Subgroup

Propose New Levies On Some Items, Reduction on Others

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plan to levy new taxes on some consumer items and repeal present taxes on others appeared today to have at least a fair chance of getting congressional approval this year.

The plan was put forth Tuesday by a House Ways and Means subcommittee after months of study. If enacted, it would cause little or no net loss in the government's revenue in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The plan, tentatively approved by the subcommittee, would, among other things:

1. Levy a new tax of 10 per cent on tape and wire recorders, record players and transistors. This would raise $5,500,000 a year in revenue and accord these products the same tax treatment as phonographs and diaphanous and radio and TV tubes, respectively, with which they compete.

2. Exempt parochial and other non-profit elementary and secondary schools and colleges and universities from payment of most excise taxes. They would save an estimated three million dollars a year.

3. Exempt from the 10 per cent admissions tax privately operated swimming pools, skating rinks and other places offering participation sports.

4. Increase the tax on tubeless tires by 1 cent a pound since purchasers of these tires escape the 9-cent-a-pound tax on tubes.

5. Abolish mandatory "stamp taxes" on tobacco and liquor. These industries, like others, would be permitted to pay their excise taxes by returns filed after their products are sold, starting Aug. 1, 1957.

6. Extend to gas-operated garbage disposal units and vacuum cleaner attachments for waxing floors the 5 per cent tax that now applies to electric garbage disposal units and regular floor polishers.

Funeral Services Thursday for Paul W. Barnhill

Funeral services for Paul Wesley Barnhill, resident of 109 East Lincoln who died suddenly yesterday at 10 a. m. while unloading cattle on his farm southeast of Harrisburg, will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at Wesley Center. Rev. W. L. Cummins will conduct the funeral and interment will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

The body lies in state at the Gaskins funeral home.

Mr. Barnhill was operator of the Barnhill Market on U. S. 45 and was a stock buyer. He was born April 15, 1894, in New Madrid, Mo., the son of Benton and Clara Bonifield Barnhill. He was married to the former Howard Gordon 35 years ago. Eight years ago he and his family moved to Harrisburg from East Prairie, Mo.

He was a member of the Methodist church and a veteran of World War I.

Besides his wife he leaves nine children: June Barnhill, Chicago, Jack Barnhill, Akron, O., Paul Barnhill, Madison, Wis., Betty Taylor, Crossville, Ill., Larry, Jane, Ben Rex, Sue and Mary Ann, all of Harrisburg; five grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Alfutis, Oran, Mo., and Ruth Watson, Wichita, Kansas; and one brother, Russell Barnhill, Chicago.

Default Day Friday In Circuit Court

Friday will be the regular default day in circuit court. Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna will preside.

Woman Fined on Guilty Plea to Driving Charge

Jane Daniel, scheduled to go on trial before a jury this morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, changed her plea to guilty and was fined $200 and costs.

She had previously entered a plea of innocent to a charge of driving intoxicated on Route 45 near Harrisburg last June 27 and was scheduled to stand trial this morning.

The jurors were on hand this morning but her attorney, Lloyd H. Melton, took her before County Judge Trafion Dennis before the trial could commence and she entered her plea of guilty. Besides fining her, Judge Dennis ordered that her driver's license be turned over to the county clerk.

Another defendant, Russell Gollhur, also changed his plea to guilty of receiving and concealing stolen goods. On the recommendation of the state's attorney he was first sentenced to a year at Vandalia, then the sentence was withdrawn and he was placed on probation for a year.

So the jury was excused for the second straight day.

In apologizing to the jury for having the members report and then have no cases to hear, Judge Dennis said:

"We have to have you in here, or it would take a long time to get these pleas out of the way."

Scheduled to be heard in the morning is the case against Jones Winston, charged with illegal sale of alcoholic liquor.

Mother, 12, and Baby 'Doing Fine'

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — A Columbia hospital spokesman said today a 12-year-old mother and her 1-day-old son were "fine" and "everything is going beautifully."

The hospital refused to identify the mother because "the family has requested that there be no publicity."

The mother was married "about a year ago," it was reported. She gave birth Tuesday to a healthy 6 pound, 14 ounce boy.

Charitable Activity to Aid Indians Focuses Attention on Former Local Couple

Mr. and Mrs. August Zvara, who left Harrisburg for Michigan 22 years ago, are now residents of Pomona, Calif., and their charitable activities in behalf of needy Indians in Utah have focused attention of Pomona residents on them.

Mr. Zvara, a retired automobile dealer and farmer, saw the desperate state of Indians on the reservation at Kanosh, Utah while he was on a hunting trip last fall.

In co-operation with the Pomona Progress-Bulletin newspaper, he has collected a large amount of apparel for the needy Indians. According to Mr. Zvara, there is no agriculture or industry near the reservation which can employ the Indians. During the summertime they are hauled 100 miles away to work.

Waitress Admits Poison Deaths Of Six Persons

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A 49-year-old waitress confessed Tuesday night she fed fatal doses of ant poison to three of her children, two husbands and mother to collect their insurance.

Police said Mrs. Rhonda Belle Martin signed a statement admitting her relatives' deaths and said she confessed poisoning her present husband, Roland Martin, who is recuperating in a Biloxi, Miss., hospital. He was her stepson and is 19 years younger than his red-haired wife.

Attorney William Thetford said an "investigation is still continuing" into the deaths of two more of Mrs. Martin's daughters.

Thetford said it was undetermined how much insurance money the waitress received from the deaths. She said she apparently received from $3,000 to $4,000 from the insurance policy of Claud R. Martin, her fourth husband who died here in 1951.

The attorney said Mrs. Martin got $750 from her mother's estate, but apparently received only "small amounts" from the other alleged victims.

State, county and city officers began the investigation two months ago when it was learned that her 30-year-old present husband was suffering from arsenic poisoning.

Raymond Kupplin, 44, Former Resident of Carrier Mills, Dies

A former resident of Carrier Mills, Raymond Kupplin, 44, known to his friends as "Dutch," died Tuesday afternoon in a hospital in Joliet. He was superintendent of a coal mine at Braywood, Ill., for the Wilmington Coal Co.

Surviving are his wife, the former Lodene Roper, a daughter, Sheila Kay, and his mother, Mrs. Lillian Kupplin of Frontinac, Kansas, and a sister, Mrs. Leona Turnage, also of Frontinac, Kansas.

The body will be returned to Frontinac Saturday for burial. He was a veteran of World War II.

Nixon is Given Heavy Vote Of Confidence

VP Receives More Than 21,000 Write-In Votes

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver decisively beat Adlai E. Stevenson while Vice President Richard M. Nixon won a thumping vote of confidence Tuesday in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary virtually complete returns showed today.

The vote for Nixon in a spontaneous write-in movement was hailed by a Republican leader as an apparent "mandate" to retain him as President Eisenhower's running mate this year.

Kefauver captured the 12-man delegation to the Democratic national convention. He defeated Stevenson, who did not personally campaign in this state, by comfortable leads in all the delegate races.

The vote for Nixon was considered significant because of reports he might be dumped from the 1956 GOP ticket.

Gov. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire described Nixon's showing as "amazing." He said it could be interpreted as a "mandate" to the Republican convention to renominate Nixon for vice president.

The more than 21,000 votes Nixon received was unprecedented in a New Hampshire primary. His name was not on the ballot.

With all but 13 of the state's 297 towns reporting, Nixon won 21,157 votes, Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts 2,631, and Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire 1,847 on the write-in Republican ballot.

In the Republican popularity poll, President Eisenhower received 53,551 votes. He was unopposed. Kefauver, unopposed in the Democratic preferential poll, received 20,343 votes.

In 1952, President Eisenhower defeated the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) 46,631-35,538 in a preferential poll contest that attracted a heavier primary vote.

Kefauver polled 19,800 in 1952 when he beat then President Truman in the primary. Mr. Truman received 15,927 votes.

The votes cast Tuesday for Mr. Eisenhower were enough to assure him support of New Hampshire's 14 delegates to the Republican national convention.

Kefauver said he regarded his vote a "substantial victory" over Stevenson.

Ministerial Ass'n

To Sponsor Good Friday, Easter Union Services

At the March meeting of the Harrisburg Ministerial Association it was voted to sponsor two union worship services in Harrisburg at Easter.

On Good Friday services will be held at the First Presbyterian church, starting at 12 o'clock noon and continuing until 3 p. m. This will be a series of services, with various churches participating.

Easter morning a sunrise service will be held at the First Methodist church, starting at 6 a. m.

Everyone in Harrisburg and vicinity is cordially invited to worship at these union church services.

Parity Formula, Dairy Supports Before Senate

Two-Price Plan For Wheat is Approved, 57-33

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators squared off today for the final two rounds in the battle over a new farm program.

They still had to decide whether to continue the dual parity formula and whether to increase dairy price supports. Other major issues had been settled.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), leader of the administration farm forces in the Senate, said he would call up today his amendment to knock out of the farm bill a provision to continue the dual parity formula. He predicted he would win by three or four votes.

The dual parity plan provides a choice between a modernized parity formula and an old formula based on the relation in 1909-14 between prices paid to and paid by farmers. Whichever is higher determines the price support levels.

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois Wednesday, March 14, 1956

Under present law, parity formulas either would be modernized or shift this year to a transitional level between the old and new. In most cases, the change would mean lower price supports dollar-wise than the old formula based on the 1909-14 period. Continuing the dual formula would give farmers the benefit of the higher of the two—the modern or the old.

The overall farm bill would provide for a non-controversial, administration-backed $1,100,000,000 soil bank, an eight-million acre increase in corn acreage, and two-price systems for rice and wheat. Price supports would be left flexible, ranging from 75 to 90 per cent, for four of the six basic crops.

The Senate Tuesday voted 54-39 for a two-price plan for wheat sponsored by Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.). But later it voted 57-33 against a two-price plan for cotton proposed by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.).

Good Neighbor Unit Has Lesson on Vegetables

Mrs. Blanche Spurlock was hostess for the February meeting of the Good Neighbors unit of Home Bureau.

Mrs. Iris Rhine gave the major lesson, "Using Green and Yellow Vegetables." She stated that these vegetables are an excellent source of vitamin A and C, and since neither of these vitamins can be stored in the body, one needs to eat one or more servings of these vegetables a day. The points to remember in selecting, preparing and cooking these vegetables was brought out, as well as the many different ways of using them in the menu.

Mrs. Meriam Tison made some delicious sweet potato drop cookies for all to sample.

Mrs. Freda Spurlock, chairman, presided over the business session during which roll call was answered by giving a topic for next year's program.

Games were played and refreshments of coffee and cup cakes were served. Those present to enjoy the program were Mrs. Amy Rhine, Mrs. Ruth Barton, Mrs. Blanche Gholson, Mrs. Iris Rhine, Mrs. Freda Spurlock, Mrs. Meriam Tison, Mrs. Bertha Lewis, Mrs. Dohla Tison, a guest, Mrs. Romaine Barker, and the hostess, Mrs. Blanche Spurlock.

Mrs. William Hopkins, who underwent major surgery at Wellborn hospital in Evansville last week, is showing improvement but still is not allowed to receive visitors.

Roy Staiger, who underwent an appendectomy last week, was scheduled to be taken to St. Louis today for observation and possible additional surgery.

Jimmie Cummins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummins, is a patient at Barnes hospital in St. Louis, Mo., where he underwent surgery of the hip Monday. His room number is 0367.

The Liberty Y.W.A. held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Irene Langford. The meeting was opened with the song "Send the Light" and minutes were read by Agnes Hull. Refreshments were served to the following girls: Agnes Hull, Jane Wasson, Sara Gibbs, Doris, Mary, Joan and Barbara Douglas, the home of Mrs. Irene Langford, sons, Jerry and Roger.

Mrs. Ruby Reynolds has returned from a two weeks' visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bailey of East Peoria. The Baileys have a new baby son, born Feb. 29 at the Methodist hospital in East Peoria. The baby weighed eight pounds, one and a half ounces, and has been named Edmund Lee. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dee Bailey of Carrier Mills.

Saline Baptist Sword Drill Held At Pankeyville

The Saline Baptist Association sword drill was held Monday evening at the Pankeyville Baptist church. The drill is a contest for intermediates and juniors to test their knowledge of the Bible.

The winner of the intermediate drill was Billy Abney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Abney, with second place going to Steven Frantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Frantz. Eulondia Winkelman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Winkelman, won first in the junior sword drill, and Jimmie Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Smith, won second place.

These young people are eligible to compete in the state contest to be held at Salem, and the winner of the state contest will receive a trip to Ridgecrest, N. C., or Glorietta, N. M., Baptist assembly summer training camp.

Man, 64, Suffers Severe Burns Because of Modesty

OMAHA (AP) — A 64-year-old man suffered severe burns Tuesday because modesty prevented him from letting a neighbor woman remove his blazing clothing.

Charles Mislavec was in serious condition at Veterans Hospital with severe hip and leg burns.

He was tending a wood fire when his clothing ignited. "A neighbor, Miss Mary Vopalka, saw his plight and rushed to his aid. She smothered the fire in his outer clothing with her coat, then pulled off the smoldering overalls, jumper and shirt."

But when she tried to remove his burning underwear, Mislavec said "Don't take it off." Miss Vopalka related "I said, 'Oh, to hell with it,' and put my jacket over him and ran to a nearby tavern for help."

Ross Vazzano assisted Miss Vopalka in removing Mislavec's remaining clothing, which had burst into flame while she was summoning aid.

"It was the only thing to do, pride or no pride," she said. "I'd do it again if I had to."

The Downstate Fisherman's Guide

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Illinois Department of Conservation and the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory.)

With flight after flight of wild geese heading northward, fishermen these days are becoming more restless than ever. However, few fishermen and fewer catches were reported at southern Illinois lakes during a week that beckoned—but with too much bluster. Heavy winds held down results, particularly at Horseshoe Lake where there was very little action.

Despite the winds and general water turbidity, some anglers sallied forth. A few bullheads were caught by cane pole and worm fishermen around the shoreline at Crab Orchard Lake. Some good sized crappie also were being caught on minnows along the shoreline at Crab Orchard.

Six hours of electrical sampling at Lake Murphysboro has established two inspiring facts: bluegill and crappie are big and numerous, and largemouth bass have started moving in.

Two hour "shocker" surveys at Murphysboro on three different days turned up 224 bluegill averaging six to eight inches, 53 bass, 43 redear sunfish and 14 crappie. The majority of the bass were picked up in the last day of the sampling. One of the lunkers weighed in at seven pounds. The crappie catch averaged nine to 12 inches.

On the basis of year-by-year improvement and the encouraging studies this year, fish management officials at Southern Illinois university are predicting a good season at Lake Murphysboro. This 173-acre artificial impoundment was filled by the Illinois Conservation Department in 1950 and was stocked a year later with largemouth, bluegill, redear sunfish, and channel catfish.

Other management work at the lake has included weed poisoning, which appears to have been highly successful. The lake was constructed with management in mind, and profitable control of the fish population has been the result.

Although last year wasn't a banner season for fishing in southern Illinois, medium sized bluegill and redear sunfish provided Lake Murphysboro fishermen with plenty of action all summer long.

Lake Murphysboro boasts top-notch picnic and boat rental facilities. Water and cold drinks are available at the lake, and overnight camping is possible by arrangement with the caretaker.

The Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory at SIU is planning to distribute catch questionnaires to boat livymen and caretakers throughout southern Illinois. Fishermen will be asked to pick up these postcard mailers, fill in the information—good or bad—and mail the card back to SIU (it will be addressed). The information will be used in census studies and in this column.

West Virginia, Manhattan Lose NCAA Tilts

By United Press

Two more favorites bit the dust today as the surprise-packed NCAA basketball carnival completed its lineup for Friday's regional tournaments.

At New York Tuesday night, Dartmouth turned in a major upset by whipping West Virginia, 61-59, in overtime on a long shot by Larry Blades with three seconds left, and speedy Connecticut handed one-time conqueror Manhattan an 84-75 defeat.

In two other first-round tourney games at Wichita, Kans., the favorites came through—but only after bad scares.

Southern Methodist, a heavy favorite, had to stall out the final 46 seconds of play to defeat Texas Tech, 68-67, and tall Oklahoma City had to rally from a 12-point deficit to score what only seemed like a comfortable 97-81 decision over Memphis State.

Here are the pairings for the regionals on Friday:

At Philadelphia: Connecticut-Temple, Dartmouth-Canisius; at Iowa City: Kentucky-Wayne, Iowa-Morehead; at Lawrence, Kans.: Kansas St.-Oklahoma City, Houston-SMU; at Corvallis, Ore.: UCLA-San Francisco, Utah-Seattle.

Friday winners meet at the same sites Saturday night. The Saturday winners go to Evanston, Ill., where on March 22, the Philadelphia and Iowa City winners clash for the Eastern crown and the Lawrence and Corvallis winners clash for the Western crown. The following night eastern and western winners meet for the national NCAA championship.

4 Teams Advance To Semifinals of Air Force Tourney

PERU, Ind. (U.P.)—Four unbeaten teams squared off today in the semifinals of the U. S. Air Force World-Wide Basketball Tournament at Bunker Hill Air Base.

Shaw Air Force Base of South Carolina and Elmendorf of Alaska advanced to the semifinal round with victories Tuesday to join Johnson of Japan and Bitburg of Germany in the winners' flight.

Three other squads in the 11-team, double elimination tourney were ousted after absorbing their second straight setbacks. Eliminated were Fairchild of Washington State, Scott of Illinois and Warren of Wyoming.

Shaw kept its record clean by downing Hickam of Hawaii, 77-71, in a nip-and-tuck battle in which only two points separated the teams during most of the second half.

Elmendorf advanced by beating Scott, 87-75, in a morning tilt. Once-beaten Keflavik AFB of Iceland then staged a mild upset by topping Scott, 62-57, in a bracket battle Tuesday night. Scott was ahead 32-24 at the half, but Keflavik got off to a fast start in the second half and forged to a 36-34 lead. The game remained close until the final three minutes when Keflavik iced the tilt.

Roslyn of New York edged Warren in another losers' bracket contest, 66-64.

Sports Clinic at SIU March 28

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U.P.)—Five high school coaches, three from Illinois and two from Missouri, will conduct the eighth annual spring sports clinic at Southern Illinois University March 23.

High school coaches attending the one-day clinic will choose from 10 lectures on baseball and track. Paul Hibbs of Du Quoin and Jim Smilgoff of Taft High School in Chicago will lecture on baseball. Sam Stollar of Herrin, Henry Schemmer of Jefferson City, Mo., and Warren St. James of Sumner High in St. Louis will give lectures on track.

These figures were presented in "Giving—U. S. A.," a pamphlet published by the association, containing a compilation of facts relating to philanthropy.

"The people of the United States and Canada invest more than five and one-half billion dollars in philanthropy every year," the association reported.

NEW YORK (U.P.)—American citizens have an investment of more than 40 billion dollars in privately supported institutions of education, religion, health and welfare, according to the American Association of Fund-Raising Councils.

West Rockford Forced Into Second Overtime to Defeat Galesburg, 66-64

Edwardsville Beats Effingham St. Anthony, 73-68

By United Press

It was Rockford West against seven sturdy challengers today for the 1956 Illinois prep basketball crown.

Powerful Pinckneyville, New Trier, and six other contenders fell by the wayside in "super-sectional" play Tuesday night.

West Frankfort donned the giant-killer's mantle to deal Pinckneyville a startling 45-42 defeat.

And Rockford West, the defending champion, was forced into a sudden-death second overtime to eliminate Galesburg, 66-64.

The eight super-sectional survivors will line up at Champaign Friday for the quarter-finals of the championship tournament.

Quincy (27-5) and Edwardsville (26-5) will take the floor in the curtain-raiser, followed by Peoria Central (25-4) vs. Oak Park (17-7). Rockford West (25-1) faces West Frankfort (21-10) and Chicago Dunbar (27-2) meets Rantoul (23-7) Friday night.

Semifinals will be played Saturday afternoon, with the third place game and the contest for the coveted crown Saturday night.

Rockford's Warriors have their work cut out for them against West Frankfort in the first round, if Tuesday night's super-sectional game between West Frankfort and Pinckneyville is any clue.

West Frankfort jumped into a 12-point lead in the first quarter, only to fall behind, 20-18, at the half. The teams played almost even terms in the third quarter, the Panthers still leading 29-28.

West Frankfort edged into a 39-37 lead, but Don Margenthaler knotted it up again. Wayne Nieble then sank a jump shot to give West Frankfort a 41-39 lead in the waning seconds and Pinckneyville couldn't recoup.

Forward Francis Florian of West Frankfort and Margenthaler of Pinckneyville took scoring honors with 14 points each. Only 11 players saw action, West Frankfort using the only substitute.

Almost Upset Champs
Galesburg came within a hair's breadth of scoring the night's biggest upset against Rockford, hitting 10 of their first 16 shots to take a 22-7 lead. Rockford chipped away at this and finally forged ahead in the third quarter.

Mike Owens hit two free throws to give Galesburg a 57-56 lead with 1:12 left in the game. Then Rockford's Nolden Gentry sank a free throw to knot it up. He missed his second, and the game went into overtime.

Substitute Bob Junkin kept Galesburg in the running with a basket, tying the score again at 64-64 as the first overtime ended.

In the sudden death second extra period, Galesburg got a shot but missed. Rockford brought the ball down and, on his third try, Gentry tossed in the winning basket.

Owens tallied 29 points, high for the evening. John Wessels got 24 for the Rockford squad.

never gave it up. At one point the Mighty Men were 30 points ahead. Forward Mel Davis led the winners with 28 points, followed by ace guard Alpha Saunders with 21.

Quincy's Blue Devils had a close call but came from behind with a last-minute spurt to beat Springfield Lanphier, 52-48, at Springfield.

Trailing 48-43, Quincy poured in nine straight points while holding the Lions scoreless to wind up the game. Guard Gary Phillips got seven of the nine points on two baskets and three free throws, which put Quincy into a 50-48 lead.

Harold Beard, Lanphier's scrappy guard, paced the scoring with 19 points. Guard Lester Kewney topped Quincy with 18.

Rally Brings Victory
Edwardsville rebounded from a 38-19 halftime deficit to beat Effingham St. Anthony at Salem, 73-68.

The Effingham five played control ball throughout, choosing their shots and hitting better than half of them. But Edwardsville finally pulled into a 66-66 tie and then went ahead to stay on a layup by Mannie Jackson, who had 26 points. Governor Vaughan led the victorious Tigers with 28 markers.

At Decatur, Rantoul jumped off to a 6-0 lead and then withstood a determined Taylorville attack to win 79-74.

Taylorville, sparked by 30 points from forward Bob Frisina, came within one point of Rantoul with 30 seconds to play. But then Bob Lathrop of Rantoul scored two free throws to make it 77-74, and added two more seconds later before the gun sounded.

Peoria Central Wins
Taylorville's lack of height hurt, for 6-7 Dave Moran controlled the boards most of the game for Rantoul.

Peoria Central outpowered La Salle-Peru at Peoria to win 66-58. The Lions took an early lead and never faltered.

Central sported a balanced attack. Ron Hermann scoring 20 points, Jim Polk 18, and Gene Toms 15. Center Bob Parnisari got 16 for the losing Cavaliers.

Oak Park and Bloom fought a close game at Hinsdale, Oak Park leading most of the way and winning 62-57. A string of nine straight points in the third quarter helped finish Bloom.

Rod Hartless led the Parkers with 19 points. Homer Thurman got 18 for Bloom.

Red Birds Will Play West Rockford in State Quarter-Finals

Those surprising West Frankfort Red Birds advanced to the quarter-finals of the state high school basketball tournament by defeating Pinckneyville Tuesday night, 45-42, in the super-sectional tilt played in the Red Birds' gym.

The West Frankfort victory comes under the heading of a major upset as Pinckneyville was rated the state's number two team on the basis of a 29-3 record. West Frankfort entered the first round of state tourney play with a record of 20 victories and ten losses.

The Red Birds now are riding a string of upset victories and will meet West Rockford, defending champion, in the quarterfinals at the University of Illinois Friday.

West Frankfort pulled its first upset by defeating highly-regarded Johnston City for the regional crown. Then it pulled another surprise last week by taking the Harrisburg sectional title. Last night it was "icing on the cake"—the major upset of all.

Red Birds Start Fast
Francis Florian, 6-2, 200-pound sophomore, placed the winners last night. He was great in the rebounding department, played a good floor game and scored 14 points. The little guards, Neibel, 5-8, and Griffin, 5-7, also came through in a great manner, scoring 6 and 10 points respectively and coming through with great floor play against the bigger Pinckneyville team.

Top scorer for the losing Pinckneyville team was Don Margenthaler with 14 points.

West Frankfort started fast, scoring the first three points of the game and at the end of the quarter was on top 16-8.

Then Pinckneyville began to operate in full gear and by halftime had overcome the eight-point deficit and taken a 2-point, 20-18, advantage. In the entire second frame WF scored just two points, a field goal by Florian.

Play was practically even the third quarter, which ended with Pinckneyville still in front, 29-28.

Frankfort Goes Ahead
Avery counted a free toss for WF to knot the score at 29-29 shortly after the final quarter started. Then Pinckneyville spurred to a 34-29 lead with the clock showing 6:25 to play. With 3:12 left on the clock Griffin pushed in a two-pointer for WF to tie the score at 37-37, then hit two free ones to put his team in front 39-37. Margenthaler again knotted the score at 39-39.

West Frankfort went ahead 41-39 on a push shot by Neibel and there was still more than two minutes to play, but WF never lost the lead, the score reading from there on 41-40, 43-41 and the final 45-42.

Ted Williams Blasts Draft of Johnny Podres

SARASOTA, Fla. (U.P.)—Ted Williams, four times the American League batting champion and twice a war hero, today went to bat for Army-bound Johnny Podres with a charge that the 23-year-old pitcher "is paying the penalty for being a star."

"It's the fault of gutless politicians, gutless draft boards and gutless sportswriters that a kid like Podres is being drafted," the 37-year-old Boston Red Sox slugger said. "If he lost the World Series he wouldn't be going into the Army."

Podres, who pitched the Dodgers to their first world championship by beating the New York Yankees, 2-0, in the seventh game of the 1955 World Series, is facing induction into the Army in either April or May. He originally was ordered to report for induction at Ft. Monmouth, N. Y., on March 15 but asked and received permission for his papers to be transferred to a New York City board.

Williams, who spent the 1943, 1944 and 1945 seasons in service and was recalled by the Marine Air Corps for duty in Korea in 1952 and 1953, told newsmen "politicians, draft boards and sportswriters are equally to blame."

"Podres is simply paying the penalty for being a star," he said. "When he became a hero in the series, some politicians said, 'Why isn't a big strong kid like that in the Army?' The draft boards didn't have the courage to oppose the politicians and the sportswriters are equally to blame because they didn't take up the case for Podres."

Williams, who raved complained when he was recalled into the Marines and flew combat missions in Korea at the age of 35, added, "If Podres is physically able to go into the Army now, why wasn't he the last two years?"

It was the first public statement of its kind by a baseball figure of Williams' stature on a subject that club officials have studiously avoided during the last 10 years. Podres and Dodger officials have been reluctant to comment on even routine phases of the pitcher's induction.

Podres returned to the Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., training site Tuesday but neither he nor club President Walter O'Malley would comment on when he would be inducted. And Johnny's teammates, in Miami to play the Braves Tuesday night, offered no comment on Williams' remarks.

Margaret Truman Saves Gay Mood for Friends, is Dignified Before Public

Editor's Note: U. P. woman's writer Elizabeth Toomey has known Margaret Truman for some time as a friend. In this dispatch, she tells about Miss Truman as her acquaintances know her.

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — Margaret Truman presents her most dignified side to the public and saves her gay moods for her friends.

She is a gadget-minded shopper and a whimsical companion who likes to pull a gag on a friend now and then.

Her life has been simpler and more relaxed since her father left the White House. Her sense of responsibility when she was the president's daughter is illustrated by a recent conversation with a 7-year-old daughter of a friend.

"What is the difference between you and Queen Elizabeth?" asked the 7-year-old, who extravagantly admires both famous figures.

"The difference," Margaret replied promptly, "is that my job is over and she will have hers for the rest of her life."

She's a lot of fun. She never has been seriously interested in any of the men she knew before, although she dated often. Her male escorts regarded her as a gay companion who always entered enthusiastically into the mood of the evening.

"She's a heck of a lot of fun," one of her escorts remarked, "whether you take her to a black tie affair or to a picnic."

She has a reputation for being punctual, both for dates and for business appointments, and doesn't like to be kept waiting.

Margaret has had as many people curious about her private life as most movie stars, yet she has never submitted to at-home pictures or "a day in the life of Margaret Truman" photographs. She simply thinks her apartment is for her friends and her family—not for the public.

She is sure of herself in all kinds of situations, yet fits comfortably into a family evening at home. She'll kick off her shoes in a friend's living room and sit down on the floor to read to the children.

Gift shopping for someone with Margaret's income can be almost impossible. Yet her friends have no particular problems. They just go shopping for new gadgets—the wilder the better.

Pretty and Witty
When her hostess put too much tabasco sauce in the food at dinner one night, Margaret sent her a sequined oil can the next day with a card suggesting it be used for the hot pepper sauce.

When she was sick in bed with a cold, her favorite gift was an elaborately decorated ice bag with a pink elephant stopper.

Both prettier and wittier in person than her pictures and public appearances indicate, Margaret long ago developed a thick skin to remarks strangers made about her. She photographs much better than she used to because she has learned to make up properly and dress becomingly for the camera.

"I love clothes, but I don't like to shop for them," she said recently. The suit she wore when she met the press to tell of her engagement was made for her in Italy more than a year ago.

She almost never wears slacks or shorts and refused to learn how to swim. She'd rather curl up with a good book than do something athletic.

Unlike most girls who take part in athletics just because everybody else does—Margaret just smiles and refuses. She is a young woman who knows her own mind.

Equipment from Huge Balloon Lost By Tracking Plane

IOWA CITY, Iowa — Anxious scientists kept "our fingers crossed" today and said they hoped someone would come up quickly with valuable cosmic ray research equipment dumped in western New York state by a wayward balloon.

The scientists chased the huge "skyhook" balloon more than 700 miles across the northern United States Tuesday. The balloon released the equipment during a snowstorm and a tracking airplane lost contact with the parachuting equipment about 7,500 feet over Mount Morris, N. Y.

It presumably landed in the densely populated area around the town, but so far no one had reported it.

"We thought sure someone would have seen it come down," Otto Winzen, Minneapolis, Minn., owner of the firm which built and launched the balloon, said.

Winzen said the plane tried to make another aerial search of the area this morning, but couldn't even leave the Rochester, N. Y., airport because of rain and snow.

"We'll just have to keep our fingers crossed and hope that somebody finds it," he said.

Prof. James Van Allen, head of the University of Iowa physics department which is conducting the tests, announced, meanwhile, that he expected to launch a second "skyhook" balloon either Thursday or Friday, weather permitting.

Winzen, however, said he wasn't too sure about the launching in view of the experience with the runaway balloon Tuesday.

U. S. Seizes Romanian Gold to Settle World War II Claims

WASHINGTON — The government has seized 13 million dollars in Romanian gold bullion to settle World War II American claims against the bally Communist nation.

The gold was frozen in U. S. banks in 1940.

The Chevrolet Motor Car Co. was formed at Detroit in 1911 and moved to Flint, Mich., in 1913.

President Appeals For Moderation in Segregation Issue

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today appealed for patience and moderation on both sides in solving the problems of school segregation.

He said extremists on either side are not going to help the situation. Mr. Eisenhower, in a long and earnest discussion at his news conference, said he hoped all Americans will approach the issue of desegregation with intelligence, patience and understanding.

He said they must be patient without being complacent.

Noting that he is "sworn to defend and uphold the Constitution," the President said he certainly will not shirk that duty if the question of a direct challenge to constitutional authority ever arises.

He made it clear, however, that he does not believe such a challenge should or will arise.

U. S. Agrees to Examine Nuclear Disarmament

LONDON — The United States, in what appeared to be a major switch in policy, has agreed to "examine" nuclear disarmament here next week with other Western allies and Russia, official sources said today.

In the past the United States with its allies has declined to discuss nuclear disarmament with the Soviets until the problems of inspection and controls are satisfactorily resolved.

The West's discussions will be limited to methods and goals and will not involve commitments on future atomic weapons at this stage, the sources said.

Officials said Harold E. Stassen, disarmament representative for President Eisenhower, had agreed with his allies to discuss the scope and goals of nuclear disarmament and previous disarmament plans simultaneously.

Stassen is currently aligning American disarmament plans with those of Britain, France and Canada in private talks in London.

Six-in Family Killed by Gas

NEW YORK — Six members of a Brooklyn family died today in their gas-filled basement apartment and a seventh victim was fighting for her life in a hospital.

Police found the bodies when they broke into the apartment shortly after sunrise. Only one member of the family, a 7-year-old girl, was alive when they entered. She was rushed to a nearby hospital for emergency treatment.

The victims were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gonzales, their three children and the children's grandmother. The survivor was identified as Maria Gonzales. Her condition was described as critical.

Police said the family apparently was overcome during the night when a defective heater leaked gas through their apartment.

Rites Held at Leamington for Gallatin County Farmer

Funeral services for Elvis Potter, 75, Gallatin county farmer who died Saturday morning in the Perrell hospital in Elmore, were held Monday at 1 p. m. at the Leamington Social Brethren church.

Rev. E. F. Waters, Rev. Elmer Grisham and Rev. Arthur Austin officiated.

Mr. Potter is survived by his wife, and six children: Mark Potter, Muskegan, Mich., Clifford Potter of Harrisburg, James of East Alton, Mrs. Alfred Leavell, East Alton, Mrs. William Martin, Junction, and Mrs. Jull Reeves of Dixon; also three nephews, Myrl, Everett and Willford, for whom Mr. Potter served as guardian; 15 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

697,465 Pounds Food Distributed In Southern Illinois

SPRINGFIELD — Welfare officials Monday reported distribution of 697,465 pounds of federal surplus foods in 19 southern Illinois counties in February.

The food went to 62,221 public aid recipients and other needy persons. The Illinois Public Aid Commission said it was valued at $183,678, and included beans, butter, cheese, cornmeal, dry milk, flour, lard, rice and shortening.

The commission said food was distributed to 440 persons in St. Clair County who were in need because of the recent tornado in the area.

Priest, Housekeeper Killed in Cathedral Fire; One Missing

TRENTON, N. J. — A spectacular early morning fire gutted St. Mary's Cathedral and its rectory today.

A Catholic priest and a housekeeper were killed and another housekeeper was missing. Four other persons were hospitalized.

The bodies of Msgr. Richard T. Crean and housekeeper Mary Duncanson were recovered from the ruins of the church, one of the oldest and largest in Trenton. Missing was housekeeper Mary Brenner.

Police said the school was evacuated and there were no injuries.

Three curates who lived in the rectory of the 100-year-old cathedral were hospitalized. A third housekeeper also was hospitalized in critical condition.

Fire Chief Thomas Dovidala estimated the damage at two million dollars.

The cathedral was completely gutted and only its shell remained.

Pet Ocelot Chews Off Toes, Part of Foot of Infant

BELTSVILLE, Md. — A pet ocelot owned by a cat loving couple Tuesday chewed off five toes and part of a foot of their 2-month-old boy.

The baby was reported in serious condition today in a hospital after spending more than three hours in the operating room.

The ocelot attacked little Thomas Perry in the upstairs nursery of his suburban Washington home while his 1-year-old sister played nearby. The girl was unharmed.

The boy's parents—Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Perry—were reported to be on a trip to New York at the time of the attack.

A male nurse left in charge of the children during the parents' absence said he was brought to the nursery by the sound of the baby's screams. When he looked in and saw what was happening, he said he snatched the catlike animal from the crib.

County police who visited the home later said they found the ocelot, seven Siamese cats, a Jaguarondi and a dog running freely in the house. The Jaguarondi is a meat-eating otter-like animal of the cat family.

The male nurse told police the ocelot bit the boy's ear and arm two weeks ago. He told police the child's parents decided to give the ocelot another trial.

Divide State Parks Division

SPRINGFIELD — Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer today announced division of the state's parks into two zones with a supervisor for each.

Palmer named Theodore F. Hammersmith, Lisle, who has been supervisor for the entire state, and Guy Taylor, Grafton, present District 4 supervisor, as the new zone supervisors.

Palmer said the division was necessary because the park system is being expanded, resulting in too heavy a workload for a single supervisor.

All-White Jury Acquits Cotton Gin Operator

SUMNER, Miss. (U.P.) — A white cotton gin operator was acquitted Tuesday night of slaying a "highly respected" Negro in the same courtroom where two white half brothers had been freed of Negro teenager Emmett Till's slaying.

An all-white jury deliberated only four hours before finding Elmer Kimbell, 34, innocent in the shotgun slaying of Clinton Melton, 33-year-old Negro service station attendant.

The shooting, last Dec. 3 in near-by Glendora, Miss., resulted from a squabble over a gasoline purchase. The local all-white Lions Club called the shooting an "outrage."

The verdict failed to cause even the slightest commotion in the little Tallahatchie courtroom where half brothers Roy Bryant and J. W. Milam were acquitted last September of the "wolf whistle" slaying of 14-year-old Chicago Negro Emmett Till. The verdict was handed down at 5:25 p. m. EST.

Kimbell, claiming he shot Melton in self defense, testified he was fired on three times before he reached for his shotgun to return the fire. Three state witnesses testified, however, that Melton was not armed.

Kimbell's wife followed him to the stand and testified that her husband, on returning home the night of the slaying, told her he had been wounded at the station where Melton was employed.

Dr. Paul Gooze testified he treated Kimbell for a shoulder wound and said it was caused by a pistol or rifle. The bullet was not found, Gooze said.

Michigan led in the production of copper from 1847 to 1887.

Two Soldiers Killed on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Cypriot nationalists shot and killed an English sergeant and wounded a Turkish patrolman today in a new anti-British outburst.

The British government reacted sharply, pouring a massive concentration of riot troops with hunting dogs into the area to hunt for the assassins.

They invaded houses in the Greek quarter of the city and herded half-dressed persons into trucks which drove them out of the sealed-off section.

The two policemen were cut down with Sten guns a few feet from the spot where two British soldiers were shot and wounded last December.

Authorities said it was an obvious retaliation for Britain's sudden deportation last week of Archbishop Makarios, religious and ethnic leader of the unity-with-Greece movement.

Soldiers said the street was crowded at the time of the shooting but they could find no one who would admit being a witness.

The pro-Greek Cypriots, who already had closed nearly all but Turkish shops and businesses in Nicosia, warned motorists they would throw bricks through the windows of any automobiles driving through the streets today.

South Rumbling with Another Possible Bolt From Democratic Ticket

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The spotlight shines on the New Hampshire presidential primaries, but the big political story is way down South in Dixie.

In Dixie there are rumblings of another bolt—a big one. Three or more southern states have bolted the Democratic ticket in three of the past seven presidential elections. The solid South really isn't solid any more.

Prohibition with a taint of anti-Catholicism caused the bolt of 1928 when Republican Herbert Hoover defeated Democrat Alfred Emanuel Smith. Mr. Hoover carried Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

President Truman was elected in 1948 over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, despite loss of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina to a State's Rights third party. State's Rights candidate Strom Thurmond, South Carolina, also picked up a single electoral vote in Tennessee. Race relations was the principal bolt issue in 1948.

Issues Narrow Again

State's rights on a much broader basis was the principal issue which gave Florida, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia to Dwight D. Eisenhower in his 1952 defeat of Adlai E. Stevenson. The issue dividing Democrats has narrowed again this year to the angry question of white and Negro children attending the same schools.

Southern hatred of prohibition and fear of Catholicism distilled bitterness in 1928. Race relations and less painful issues aroused 1948 tempers. The 1952 election was all sweetness and light compared to these.

The 1956 campaign is building rapidly toward Democratic bitterness surpassing anything in the memory of most, perhaps all voters. There was a hint of what may come in the Democratic National Convention four years ago.

Northern Democrats then all but ejected from the convention the delegations of Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia.

Single Fiery Issue

The Supreme Court's order for integration of the races in public schools has concentrated the dispute within the Democratic Party on a single fiery issue which seems already to be too hot to handle.

Some Democratic conservatives have predicted a break in the so-called solid South this year unless the party's presidential candidate and platform plump for go-slow moderation in merging the schools. That suggests that Adlai E. Stevenson, Illinois, might hold the South together while Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee, or Gov. Averell Harriman, New York, might not.

The spectacular depth and breadth of party division, however, only became evident with the "declaration of Constitutional Principles" published here Monday over the signatures of 19 southern senators and 77 representatives. Four more House members signed up later. There will be other signers — all pledged to oppose the Supreme Court's order by every lawful means.

Right or wrong, these are serious men, most of them powerful in Congress and among conservatives of their political faith. They moved, they said, in defense of southern "habits, customs, traditions and way of life."

Reporter Finds Hectic Pace Set By Congresswoman from Georgia

By HELEN THOMAS

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Being a congresswoman calls for physical stamina to match political skill.

I know. I spent a day dogging the footsteps of Rep. Iris Faircloth Blitch (D., Ga.), and found it just as her husband said it would be—"like trying to keep up with Nashua."

On this particular day, the 43-year-old freshman congresswoman had arisen at 6:30 a. m. and was in her office by 8:30.

By nine, she had checked her appointments with her staff of four—a male assistant and three women. She had answered the phone several times... some of the calls local, some from her constituents. She had gone through a stack of mail, most of it from "back home."

Callers streamed in to see her. Her office, except for a few feminine touches and pictures of her husband, a druggist and farmer in Homerville, Ga., and their two grown children, is like any other congressman's office.

But Mrs. Blitch has pushed the traditional heavy leather chair from her desk—it's too big for her. She's a size 12.

Lunch at 2:00 p. m.
By 10:30, she dashed to a congressional committee meeting, calling out last-minute instrucdelivered a short, but eloquent talk.

By 2:00 p. m., she managed to break away for a bite of lunch. She waited 10 minutes for a seat in the restaurant. She was half way through a piece of broiled chicken when bells began to ring, summoning her back to the house floor for a quorum call.

Home At Last

More time spent in the house, and then Mrs. Blitch took the long walk back to her office building.

Back at her office, Mrs. Blitch gave out her stock greeting, "Any emergencies?" There were none, but there were more calls, more messages, more mail.

By early evening, Mrs. Blitch called it a day at the office, and headed home by cab. Home is a small house, run by her maid who has been with her 17 years. She kicked off her shoes, collapsed on a couch and tuned in a newscast. Mrs. Blitch, dark-haired, brown-eyed and exceedingly attractive, said she keeps her social life at the minimum.

She also tries to get enough rest "to keep going." She emphasized, though, that a congresswoman "is a public servant."

After a day of following her, I went home bushed myself, but with new respect for congress... and the women in it.

Evangelist Billy Graham Convinced Christianity is on March in Asia

Editor's Note: American evangelist Billy Graham is returning home after an eight-week tour of Asia in which he visited seven countries. In the following dispatch written for United Press he tells of the rapid growth of Christianity among Asiatic peoples.

By BILLY GRAHAM
Written for United Press
HONOLULU — Christianity is on the march in Asia. I have come to this firm conclusion after talking to hundreds of missionaries and national church leaders in seven Asiatic countries. I also learned the reactions of scores of active non-Christians.

Deep in the jungles of Travancore, in the south of India, I sat in the home of a bishop of the church of South India. Christianity has made great strides there, and it is estimated more than 50 per cent of the people in the bishop's city profess Christianity.

The bishop told me of the notable increase in activity on the part of the Hindu leaders, and then added quietly, "They are worried because they know that Christianity is going to win."

The importance of the growth of the Christian faith is not felt by church leaders alone. After a long discussion of India's overwhelming problems with a professor of economics at one of India's great universities, I asked him if he saw any hope for the future.

"India's only hope is that she become Christian," he said.

There are other Asiatic countries such as Korea, Formosa and the Philippines which may now be spoken of as Christian nations. By that I do not mean that all, or even most, of the people profess Christianity. But Christianity has definitely become the dominating religion.

In Japan, Christianity is making its influence felt and is having an unprecedented acceptance by the populace.

Suggestion Passed Along for Males Only

FORT DIX, N. J. — Some soldiers will go to great lengths to preserve their pay and freedom from encroachment by females.

Two of them were found crammed into a telephone booth here. One talked into the phone, while the other fed a newspaper into a portable electric fan.

"These two gals are trying to come down to Dix to see us Sunday," one explained. "So we've told 'em we're at the airport catching a plane for Europe."

Injured in Train Accident

John R. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Williams of this city, was injured Saturday in a train wreck at Danville. He was engineer on one of two trains that collided and is in St. Elizabeth's hospital, Danville, with injuries to his chest and back. His parents who visited him, returned home and said that he is not believed to have any broken bones.

RONNIE BEAN, who recently graduated from Radio Aids Training unit school and the school for operational flight training at Memphis Naval Air station, is being transferred to Washington, D. C., to start factory training on the A.D.-5N operational flight trainer used in anti-submarine warfare. His training there will be for 14 weeks at E.R.C.O. factory. He has been in the Navy for 17 months, 15 months of which were spent in five Navy electronic schools in Norman, Okla., and Memphis. He left Monday night following a six-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bean, Eddie Johnson of Franklin, Pa., who also will be going to Washington, spent his leave also at the Bean home.

One Atomic Power Plant Under Construction; AEC Proposes Building 15 More

Editor's Note: The Atomic Energy Commission said recently that 15 civilian nuclear power plants are "under construction, in process of design or proposed" for completion between 1957 and 1962. Following is a report on their current status.

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON 10—One civilian atomic power plant is actually under construction.

Fourteen others have been proposed. As of now, however, the Atomic Energy Commission has awarded no contracts and granted no licenses or building permits for any of them.

The plant under construction is at Shippingport, Pa. It is expected to be completed some time next year. It is strictly experimental.

Although it will generate 60,000 kilowatts or more of electrical power, it will do so at an economically prohibitive cost—52 mills per kilowatt-hour at the start. The total cost of this plant, counting research and development, will be about 85 million dollars. It is being built for the AEC by the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Duquesne Light Co. Duquesne is paying about 15 million dollars of the cost, the AEC the rest.

1962 Target Date

The Shippingport plant was included by the AEC recently in a list of 15 civilian atomic power plants "under construction, in process of design or proposed" for completion during the period between 1957 and 1962.

It said total costs of the 15 plants will be over 500 million dollars with industry paying about half. "As presently proposed" the plants will generate a total of nearly one million kilowatts of electrical power.

The 14 plants not yet started include: Four costing nearly 150 million dollars which industry would build at its own expense under AEC license.

Three large plants which would be built under the AEC's "power demonstration program" at a total cost of 165 million dollars. Of this, the government would pay 55 million dollars. The AEC has accepted these proposals as a basis for negotiating government-aid contracts.

Seven smaller plants proposed by non-federal public groups for construction under the demonstration program with government help. Costs and cost-sharing have not been firmly estimated.

How They Stand

Here is the status of the four privately-financed proposals: General Electric Co.-Pacific Gas & Electric Co., 5,100-10,000 kilowatts, Livermore-Pleasanton area, Alameda County, Calif.—License applied for, not yet granted, not expected soon.

Consolidated Edison Co., 140,000 kilowatts, Indian Point, N. Y.—License applied for, not yet granted. But may get building permit soon.

Commonwealth Edison Co., 180,000 kilowatts, Dresden, Ill.—License applied for, not yet granted. May get building permit soon.

Pennsylvania Power & Light Co., 150,000 kilowatts, eastern Pennsylvania—This company, according to AEC, has merely "indicated its intention." It has not applied for license.

The three large power demonstration proposals:

Yankee Atomic Electric Co., 134,000 kilowatts, Rowe, Mass.—No license application yet, no assistance contract negotiated.

Power Reactor Development Co. (including Detroit Edison Co. and others), 100,000 kilowatts, Monroe, Mich.—License applied for but not yet granted. No assistance contract negotiated.

Consumers Public Power District of Nebraska, 75,000 kilowatts—No license application yet, no assistance contract negotiated.

The seven smaller plants: Elk River, Minn.; Gainesville, Fla.; Piqua, Ohio; Hersey, Mich.; Orlando, Fla.; Holyoke, Mass.; and Anchorage, Alaska—The AEC so far has accepted none of these proposals as a basis for contract negotiations. They are under study.

There are 15,000,000 unwanted dogs and 25,000,000 unwanted cats in the United States, according to the National Humane Society.

Adopt New 'Yield Right of Way' Signs for Illinois Highways

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—A new triangular traffic sign carrying the message "Yield Right of Way" has been adopted for Illinois highways by the state Division of Highways. Director E. A. Rosenstone of the Department of Public Works and Buildings announced today.

The signs will be used in the median strips of divided highways throughout Illinois and conform to standards which have recently been adopted nationally, Rosenstone said.

Ralph R. Bartelsmeyer, chief state highway engineer, explained that in many cases motorists now make two stops when crossing divided highways but that when the new signs are in place the second stop will be eliminated, if the way is clear.

However, the yield signs require reduction of speed to 20 miles per hour and place responsibility for ensuing mishap on drivers who fail to yield properly.

The statute covering this situation is quoted below:

"The driver of a vehicle in obedience to a yield right-of-way sign shall reduce the speed of his vehicle to not more than 20 miles per hour and shall yield the right-of-way to other vehicles which have entered the intersecting highway either from the right or left or which are approaching so closely on said intersecting highway as to constitute an immediate hazard; but said driver having so yielded may proceed at such time as a safe interval occurs."

"If a driver is involved in a collision at an intersection or interferes with the movement of other vehicles after driving past a yield right-of-way sign, such collision or interference shall be deemed prima facie evidence of the driver's failure to yield right-of-way."

The new signs are now in process of manufacture and as fast as they are delivered they are to

Open Psychiatric Nursing School At Anna Hospital

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. —Governor William G. Stratton announced that the fifth Affiliate School of Psychiatric Nursing in the Illinois Department of Public Welfare opened this week at Anna State hospital.

The school will have a capacity of 50 students. The first group from Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, is now in attendance. The second group will come from St. Luke's hospital, Chicago.

Dr. Otto L. Bettag, state welfare director, said that the five Affiliate Schools of Psychiatric Nursing of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare now provide three months' training courses in psychiatric nursing for approximately 1,500 nurses annually. These state schools, plus other facilities within the state, are now adequate to permit all student nurses to receive psychiatric nurses' training in Illinois. Dr. Bettag said. Formerly, in view of licensing regulations requiring three months of psychiatric training for all student nurses, it was necessary for at least some Illinois nursing students to seek psychiatric training outside the state.

The other four affiliate schools are at Chicago, Peoria, Jacksonville and Elgin State hospitals.

be set in place by the sign crews in the 10 highway districts. They will be used where the center dividers are from 15 to 50 feet wide. When the dividers are more than 50 feet wide the yield signs will not be used. Then the stop signs will remain in place and motorists must make the second stop in the usual way.

Carrier Mills P. T. A. Holds Regular Meeting
The Carrier Mills P. T. A. held its regular meeting at the grade school Monday, March 5, at 7 p. m.

The meeting was opened with the president, Mrs. Beggs, leading the P. T. A. prayer.

Mrs. Rena Brackney and several of her students presented the following musical program: Piano solo, "Norwegian Concerto," by Kathryn Mathews; cornet solo, "Caissons Go Rolling Along," by Larry Wallace; alto horn solo, "Victory," Candace Malone; trumpet solo, "My Buddy Waltz," by Sheryl Mayhew; soprano saxophone solo, "Little Commodore," by Peggy Hill; trumpet solo, "The Dancer," by Alice Malone; cornet solo, "They Were Doing the Mambo," by David Odum.

During the business meeting the P. T. A. voted to give $215.50 to finish the amount for the new stage curtains for the gym. Seava Rodocker, Pauline Thornton and Juanita Campbell were appointed on the nominating committee to select officers for next year and a delegate to the state convention to be held April 19, 20 and 21 at Peoria.

Beverly Beavers and Larry Edwards spoke on "The Requirements to Secure a Teen Town." The P. T. A. voted to help sponsor the project and appointed a committee in charge composed of Paul McSparin, Raymond Rann, Mary Vaneta Beggs, Marge Davis, Juanita Campbell and Ethel Beavers.

Shampoo was sold by the seventh and eighth grade students who reported a profit of $91.50. Billy Ryan received $5 for selling the most shampoo.

Refreshments were served by the fourth grade room mothers, Mrs. Ernest Ammon, Mrs. George Campbell, Mrs. Elmer Davis, Mrs. Aline Fife, Mrs. Oather Dunaway, Mrs. Warren Jennings and Mrs. James Schofield.

Mrs. Juanita Rodocker Hostess to W. S. C. S.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church met Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Juanita Rodocker with Wilma Gullledge as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Wilma Gullledge gave the devotion, assisted by Juanita Campbell, using "Discipleship" as their theme. Mrs. Mae Hitchcock presented the lesson on "Ventures in Discipleship." She was assisted by several members of the society. During the lesson favorite songs were sung and favorite scriptures were given.

After the lesson the president, Ina Melven, conducted a brief business meeting. Reports of the various officers were given.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following: Mrs. Gertie Russell, Mrs. Grace Martin, Mrs. Mary Barger and Johnnie, Mrs. Mabel Milligan, Mrs. Ina Melven, Mrs. Mae Hitchcock, Mrs. Ada Holloway, Mrs. C. ### A Candid, Courageous Talk

Editorial — By BRUCE BISSAT

The limiting factors President Eisenhower laid before America in his nationwide address obviously will be no bar to his re-nomination by the Republican party. And the presentation he made gave the voters a fair start toward judging him as a candidate in 1956.

In this approach his fundamental honesty and decency stood out with more clarity than ever before in all his many dealings with the American people.

He spoke frankly, almost clinically, of the details of his heart ailment and the present state of his recovery. Without hesitancy he noted he is classed as a "recovered heart patient."

He was no less honest in pointing out that his heart attack had permanently changed his living habits, and that this meant he would function differently as President than he had before, or than a nonheart patient might do.

Thus he stressed his need for a more orderly regimen, for greater rest, regular exercise, and so on.
And he observed that to accommodate to such a regimen meant: reducing social and ceremonial duties, trimming routine paper work, even handing over certain more essential tasks that were fairly well advanced and therefore could be safely delegated.

Mr. Eisenhower showed plainly, however, that he understands he can never escape the really vital part of his job—the major policy and administrative decisions affecting peace and the great domestic needs in the economic and social sphere.

He knows the gnawing, lonely isolation of a President goes with him wherever he may be—in Washington, Gettysburg, Augusta, Denver.

Having spelled all this out, he declared with confidence and vigor that he considers himself fit, under the prescribed limitations, to carry on the essentials of his office for another term. In support of this conviction, he said, he has both the encouraging word of the doctors and his own feeling of well-being.

Furthermore, he added that he had been performing these key duties for the past several weeks.
This obviously weighed heavily with him.

The President served notice on his party and the country that he will not barntorm for re-nomination or re-election. But this would seem a minor point, since he would not have done so even without a heart attack.

This is part of his general determination to reduce travel in conformity with his health program, yet he indicated he believes some travel is important to keep him in touch with the people and he intends to continue it.

For the first time, he disclosed
he had not decided whether to run when his heart attack hit him. The country learned, too, that as he contemplated this decision—complicated as it was by health factors—he came to feel he wanted to go on.

Clearly Mr. Eisenhower is proud of what his administration has done and seeks to do. He will campaign on that record. He earnestly desires to extend it through 1960. He does not think his job is done.

In the end, he said he felt the people, not he, not his advisers, not his critics or opponents, should decide whether he is fit to be President under the prevailing circumstances he has outlined.

He is putting his case and his future as a man and a public figure in their hands. That was the meaning of his remarkably candid address.

It was the opening gambit in a campaign sure to be unique. It was also a living portrait of a man who had wrestled with a great decision and resolved it on the side of further duty—if that be the American people's wish.

NEW 60 SECOND RECIPE TAKES OFF UGLY FAT

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly you can lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home.
You don't have to starve yourself;
just eat sensibly and eat what you want. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—takes only 60 seconds, and costs so little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice (or the juice from two lemons and water) to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this safe home recipe way to reduce that is endorsed and proven by thousands of your Illinois neighbors. Rennel is available in both 4 oz. regular and 8 oz.

economy sizes. Get a bottle today and note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. You'll be more alive and youthful appearing after reducing with Rennel.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Four Of Eisenhower Cabinet
Will Resign Before Election;
Secretary McKay Was Sweet-Talked Out Of Cabinet; Weeks, Summerfield And Wilson Will Also Go.

WASHINGTON. — The men around him have decided on a major shake-up of the Eisenhower cabinet. As a start toward clearing the decks for action in the coming presidential campaign they plan to unload a total of four members of the cabinet, the first having already been announced —
Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay.

They will be unloaded adroitly and diplomatically, and this column unquestionably will be denied. Nevertheless, the fact remains that the men who are steering Ike's campaign are deadly serious and don't plan to let any deadwood or monkey-business interfere with victory in November.

In addition to Secretary McKay, the cabinetiers they have marked for the axe are:

Sinclair Weeks, Secretary of Commerce—Who in inner White House circles is sometimes referred to as the man who stayed too long. He joined the cabinet with the expectation of staying one year and has been here three. He likes Washington. But the powers that-be at the White House don't like him. Also his ambitious undersecretary, Walter Williams of Washington State, had long expected to step into his shoes. Finally,
"Sinny" has had the big business label so unmistakably pinned on him that it's decided he will have to go.

Williams, who spark-plugged the Citizens-For-Eisenhower committee and has been spending almost more time at the White House than at Commerce, will take his place.

Arthur Summerfield, the Post master General — who isn't popular on Capitol Hill, and was always frowned on by the Henry Ford forces in Michigan, is next on the list. Summerfield has played ball with the General Motors faction in Michigan when it was embattled with the Eisenhower wing of the GOP, so is not considered as loyal politically as he might be.

Replacing him may be: Len Hall. The genial, barren-beaned chairman of the GOP is itching to get the job, but that doesn't mean he'll land it.

Charlie Wilson, secretary of Defense, will also be a casualty though not a forced one. There are mixed views about Wilson inside the Eisenhower high command. He is considered a strong man as far as the cabinet is concerned, though not strong politically. He has put his foot in his mouth too many times with kennel dogs and what's good for General Motors statements; also is too closely stamped with the big business tar-brush.

However, Wilson has been talking about resigning for health at the close of Congress; so when the time comes he'll be allowed to do so without much argument.

DOUG MCKAY

The manner in which these resignations will come about is illustrated in what happened in the case of Doug McKay.

The strategy was worked out by Assistant President Sherman Adams,
Attorney General Brownell,
GOP Chairman Len Hall, and Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. These are the right powers of President Eisenhower; the general staff which runs his administration just as General Bedell Smith and General Omar Bradley ran his combat strategy during and after the Normandy invasion.

At a meeting of these four it was decided that McKay should leave the cabinet though leave on a polite and cordial note.

Adams and Hall then approached the affable and unsuspecting
Secretary of the Interior. They did not force him to resign. They did a Lyndon Johnson on him—they
"sweet talked" him. They talked about the need of a strong man to run against Senator Wayne Morse
in Oregon. They told how the President had set an example by running himself; therefore it was McKay's duty to knock off the senator — Wayne Morse — who had turned against the President.

And they emphasized the President's courage, his soldierly devotion to duty, the fact that others must not let him down by permitting him to have a Democratic Congress.

McKay, softened but not entirely agreeable, still required a talk with Eisenhower himself to bring him around.

Six weeks earlier, the President had phoned Governor Paul Patterson of Oregon to ask him to run against Morse, and a week after Patterson consented he had died of a heart attack.

Ike, therefore, was loath to urge McKay to run. However, Adams and Len Hall advised that it must be done. Besides, the President dislikes Wayne Morse more than any other public figure save Harry Truman. So Secretary McKay had an 11 a. m. Thursday appointment with Ike, after which he denied that Ike had asked him to run but after which he immediately flew to Oregon and filed for the GOP nomination.

He had to act fast, and so did the White House aides who sweettalked him into it. The deadline for filing expired just after McKay got to Oregon.

Note 1—Expected successor to McKay will be ex-Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado.

Note 2—The palace guard has given up on getting Ezra Benson out as Secretary of Agriculture.
Though they still consider him a political liability, they don't think his exit is feasible in view of the Senate farm vote.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Archbishop Makarios had been planning to attend the annual AHEPA dinner in Washington just before the British booted him out of Cyprus. The AHEPANS — Americans of Hellenic Descent — were bringing the archbishop from Cyprus especially for the dinner.
Adams and Hall then approached the affable and unsuspecting
Secretary of the Interior. They did not force him to resign. They did
a Lyndon Johnson on him—they
"sweet talked" him. They talked about the need of a strong man to run against Senator Wayne Morse
in Oregon. They told how the President had set an example by running himself; therefore it was McKay's duty to knock off the
senator — Wayne Morse — who had turned against the President.

Opulence in Spring's Golden Jewelry

The golden look in spring's costume jewelry is shown here in opulent pieces designed to set off the beiges, yellows and navies of the season. Leaf pattern is used (upper left) for tailored single necklace and dangly earrings. There's a matching pin. Single golden hoop (upper right) is just right for the high, round sheath neckline. It's shown here with four shining bracelets that match. An armful of gleaming bracelets (lower left) shows off this spring's textured and smooth surfaces to advantage. These are tailored pieces with bulk, meant to be worn singly or together. Flower motif is used (lower right) for large earrings and necklace with an Oriental feeling. All pieces are Monet designs.—By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Social and Personal Items

McKinley Avenue Baptist Young People's Department Has Entertaining Social

The Young People's Sunday school department of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church of which Miss Laura Raley is superintendent met in the dining room last Saturday at 7 p. m. for a supper and a fellowship hour.

Grace was offered by the pastor, J. D. McCarty. A delicious meal consisting of ham, baked beans, salad, pickles and stuffed celery, hot biscuits, pie and coffee or cold drinks, was served on beautifully decorated tables. The tables which were placed to form a U shape were covered with white and green with shamrocks scattered about. The centerpieces were white carnations and fern with lighted green candles.

At the close of the meal Lucky Leroy sang several numbers joined by the group. A playlet entitled "The Castle of Dreams" was given with the characters being as follows: Princess, Miss Carlene Gibbons; prince charming, Jerry DeWitt; old lady, Mrs. John Kuykendall; hidden voice, Robert Frantz. The following helped to make the princess happy and her dreams come true: Richard Norris who sang "Outside of Heaven"; Rhitta McNichols who sang "He"; Lucky Leroy who sang "Come Home, It's Supper Time."

Also entertaining was a barber shop quartet composed of Phillip Boren, Richard Norris, Richard Childress and Nancy Fulkerson singing "Down by the Old Mill Stream" with Nancy accompanying the group. Doyle Hedger sang "Only Make Believe" and "Beautiful Dreamer," accompanied by Mrs. Hedger at the piano.

The social hour closed with prayer by Robert Frantz.

Others present were Norma McDonald, Sandra Lassater, Elaine Whiteside, Sharon Lewis, Jean Folwell, Robert Hicks, Harold Hicks, Howard Kelly, Johnny Biggers, Wayman Heiner, Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McNew, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Crabb, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Crabb, Mr. and Mrs. John Pool, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fife, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marvel and son, Sandy, Mr. and Mrs. William Pankey, Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heine, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. McCarty, Mrs. Robert Frantz, Mrs. Barbara Grisham, Mrs. Lenora Harris, Mrs. Becky Cusic, Mrs. Betty Arms, Mrs. Jane Hughes, Mrs. Louise LaBaw and Mrs. Ernestine Brinkley.

Chanter 7, P.E.O., Elects And Installs New Officers

Mrs. John Cane was hostess to Chanter 7, P.E.O., for the regular meeting Friday afternoon, March 9.

New officers for the coming year were elected and Mrs. Phil Doham, retiring president, installed the following: Mrs. K. C. Canel, president; Mrs. Bruce Polk, vice president; Mrs. George Barnes, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bob Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Bottomley, chaplain, and Mrs. Carl Rude, guard. Mrs. Kenneth Canel was elected delegate to the state P.E.O. convention to be held in Chicago April 19, 20 and 21, and Mrs. Pat Sullivan was elected alternate delegate.

Following the business meeting Chanter 7 celebrated its 45th anniversary with a birthday party. Individual cakes with candles and coffee were served by the refreshment committee.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Taylor March 23 at which time the members will have a bake sale.

First Presbyterian Lenore Circle Meets at the Church

The Lenore circle of the First Presbyterian church met Monday evening at the church.

Mrs. Lelle Anderson gave the Year Book of Prayer and the meditation entitled "Preaching the Word." Africa is the theme for March and mention was made of the missionaries there and prayer was offered in their behalf. In continuing the program guide for 1956, "In All and Through All," part three entitled "Never At Home," the leader, Mrs. Ownly Furman, was assisted by Mrs. John Utter, Mrs. Clyde Pittman, Mrs. Charles Boicourt, Mrs. Herman Seifried and Mrs. Nelle Meyers.

Following the worship period, the theme for which was "Through Him We Have Access in One Spirit to the Father," the song Blessed BeB The Ties that Bind, was sung by the group. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Herman Seifried, chairman. Miss Juanita Joyner read the minutes of the last meeting and Miss Mary Morrison gave the treasurer's report.

Miss Gladys Gaskins, the hostess, served refreshments to the following members: Mrs. Nelle Meyers, Mrs. Charles Boicourt, Mrs. John Utter, Mrs. Clyde Pittman, Mrs. S. M. Farrar, Mrs. Herman Seifried, Mrs. Ownly Furman, Misses Lelle Anderson, Juanita Joyner, Gladys Gaskins, Edith Morrison, and Mary Morrison. Mrs. William Burroughs was a guest of the circle.

Miss Diane Barger, Clark Lee Vineyard To Wed

Announcement is being made of the forthcoming marriage of Miss Carolyn Diane Barger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Barger, and Clark Lee Vineyard, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Vineyard, which will take place March 17 at 7:30 p. m. at the First Christian church.

The pastor, Rev. Glen Daugherty, will perform the ceremony. A reception will follow in the lower rooms of the church. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

XXVII

Mrs. Dorn sighed and pulled out the plug. "She's quarreled with Dr. Dick. I try to avoid being the anxious and interfering mother, but sometimes it's difficult not to get involved."

"A lover's spat, huh?"

"Frankly, Mr. Bennett, I don't approve of Dr. Dick." She leaned forward and lowered her voice. "It's been rather embarrassing for me. Lucy has simply thrown herself at Dr. Dick, knowing all the while that he was madly in love with Alice Osborn. And Alice was playing Dick and Wilbur Tweed against each other—she didn't decide upon Wilbur until a few weeks ago. Even then, Dick didn't give up. Then Alice was killed and he came running back to Lucy and wanted her to marry him and go away and help him forget Alice. Can you imagine? Well, when Lucy told me, I gave her a piece of my mind. There comes a time when a mother simply has to step in. I told her she was making a fool of herself, that Dick didn't love her, that he was merely using her. I told her to forget him and wait for the right man, someone who loved her alone. Well, Lucy was quite angry at first, but today I believe she came to her senses."

"Had Mrs. Osborn planned to marry Wilbur Tweed soon?" I was checking on the gossip.

"Oh, no. I give Alice credit for that. She promised Wilbur, but she refused to marry him until her husband had been gone a year. That would make it next December. Wilbur bought her a diamond, but Alice told him she couldn't accept it until December. Wilbur has the wedding ring, too. Mr. Sternberg, the jeweler, told me."

"Poor Dr. Dick," I said. "He lost Alice, and now he's lost Lucy, too."

"Bosh! He shouldn't be so weak. And Lucy is too good for him. Between the two of us, I never liked him as a person—and I don't think he's a good doctor. Once he made up his mind about an ailment, you couldn't budge him. Why, he'd doctor you for pleurisy until you died of tuberculosis—if he decided you had pleurisy."

I was really getting the low-down, I thought, and I murmured, "I've heard some talk about a tumor."

"It's true," she said indignantly. "I know Esther Brand. And that isn't all. He—The switchboard buzzed and she turned away to plug in a cord. Reluctantly I decided to leave."

***

We drove to Sunny Acres Cemetery in Dr. Van Horn's car. I will not attempt to describe the equipment carried in the car, but it was adequate, as I learned later, although the metal containers were a trifle bulky.

"Of course," he said in his guttural voice, "we could move the entire body, but it might involve legal complications and is not necessary. The heart and the lungs will be sufficient to determine if death was caused by silicosis, with perhaps accompanying tuberculosis, or by coronary occlusion. That is my assignment, is it not?"

"Yes, sir," I said, "to the best of my knowledge."

I directed Dr. Martingale to stop on the drive opposite the Osborn site. As we got out of the car, the caretaker, Ted Johnson, came forward to meet me. Behind him I saw the gentle mound of damp yellow earth over Alice Osborn's grave, thinly obscured by layers of flowers. Beside it was a bigger mound of earth and a gaping hole. At one side was a muddy bronze casket resting on two wooden supports, commonly known as saw-horses.

Johnson said, "We didn't open the casket. Want me to do it now?"

"Yes. Where are your helpers?"

"Gone home to supper. They'll be back pretty quick." He turned and walked up the slope toward the casket.

I helped the two doctors unload their equipment. As we approached the open grave, the caretaker said, "There was a crack in the cement vault, and some water and mud seeped in. Charlie Starr does all of Wilbur's vault work—I'll mention it to him."

"Yes," I said. "Open the casket."

"Screws are rusted. But I'll get it." He worked busily, and then I heard a screeching sound and the casket lid tilted against the red evening sky. Beyond the casket the trees waved soundlessly in the dying afternoon breeze. The sun was almost down.

Dr. Van Horn took off his coat and drew on a pair of rubber gloves. I heard him say to Dr. Martingale, "Get your note book, Jerry. We can get part of this down as I proceed."

"It's lucky for you that I learned shorthand in high school," the young doctor said. "On this job I'm more of a stenographer than a doctor." He sounded depressed.

Van Horn laughed softly. "A doctor with knowledge of shorthand is a rarity. And do not fret; you will learn plenty of medicine with me before you save enough money to hang out your shingle."

"On what the state pays," Dr. Martingale said gloomily, "that glorious day will be a long time coming."

Frank Osborn was a slight man, smaller than I'd expected. Somehow I had pictured him as tall, perhaps emaciated by the silicosis, but a big-boned man. He wasn't. He was short and delicate, clad in a neat dark suit, white shirt and a dark tie. One thin waxy hand resting on his chest bore a gold wedding ring. He looked peaceful, as his wife had looked, as all the dead look.

"Is there enough light, Chief?" Dr. Martingale asked.

"Yes, for the present."

Both drive out engine dirt because ... now Both are detergent!

PREMIUM USERS

Buy Detergent Ashland Ethyl Gasoline. Reason: today's high compression engines demand an Ethyl gasoline. Ashland Ethyl is not only detergent, it's compounded with ICA* POWER TONIC to stop spark plug fouling, pre-ignition and knock.

REGULAR USERS

If your car can use regular, buy only Ashland Flying Octanes Gasoline—it's the regular that is different... different because it's detergent! Detergent Ashland Flying Octanes Gasoline restores pep, power and performance tankful after tankful.

*Ashland Brand of Ignition Control Additive

ASHLAND DETERGENT FLYING OCTANES
Proved power gain measured on the Dynamometer, the nationally accepted scientific measurement for engine power. Thanks to detergent Flying Octanes Gasoline, harmful engine dirt is driven out while you drive. Result: increased power, smoother performance, a better engine.

NON-DETERGENT REGULAR
But here's proved power loss measured on the same Dynamometer when harmful engine dirt from non-detergent gasolines builds up as you drive, robs your engine of power. This actual power loss was measured with engine developing maximum power, operating at a constant speed.

Why accept less than an ASHLAND DETERGENT gasoline?

Thinking It Over— For Lent

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Written for NEA Service

When we buy land we like to buy rectangular pieces of property bound by straight lines. That is probably why the patch-work quilt of the earth has such straight-line designs when viewed from an airplane window.

In spite of the straight-line property boundaries, the rivers, mountains and many of the highway follow the gentle sweeping curves of the earth's natural surface. Man too, has now learned to follow the contours of God's earthly creation.

The farmer now tills his soil following the contours of the earth. People have learned that there is less erosion and less destruction to the earth if they follow a somewhat curving route in using the earth's surface.

The old cliché about the "longest way around being the shortest way home" is more acceptable than it used to be.

Man himself is not a creature of straight lines. We are now beginning to deal with people by following the contours of their personalities instead of considering them identical human mechanisms. Each person is different, and each has his own viewpoint.

If we are going to come near to satisfactory human relationships we must follow the contours of the beings whom God has created. We must learn God's way of dealing with people.

When Hollywood Films Ingrid
Can She Live Down Stromboli?

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA)—Ingrid Bergman will appear this summer in her first Hollywood movie since "The Bergman Scandal" raged across the world's front pages in 1949-50.

Will it be a grand comeback for the one-time first lady of the screen or a flop?

Is the famous star of the cool, fresh beauty and purity of expression still poison at the box office or are U. S. moviegoers who once threatened to boycott her films ready to forgive and forget?

Will there be a repetition of what happened last year when she returned to her native Sweden for the first time in 18 years? She appeared in the opera "Joan of Arc" and the critics blasted her performance.

In a flare of temperament unlike the Ingrid Hollywood once knew, she even turned on the audience from the stage, saying:

"The Swedes begrudge anyone who attempts to rise above the crowd."

The 20th Century-Fox movie slated to star Ingrid in Paris this summer is the Broadway hit, "Anastasia," and for the second time in six years she will not be directed by her husband, Roberto Rossellini.

At the time Darryl Zanuck signed her for the film, some important Fox executives are said to have opposed the idea. They still remembered her soiled reputation.

But Zanuck insisted: "I don't believe the public is concerned with the private life of an actress."

But there was plenty of public concern about the private life of Ingrid Bergman six years ago. The film industry itself labeled her poison at the box office. Women's clubs and movie fans all over the U. S. threatened to boycott her pictures.

"The Bergman Scandal," in fact, ended her brilliant Hollywood career.

Six years ago Ingrid left Hollywood, home, daughter and husband to become the mother of a baby in Rome.

The stories before and after were page one headlines all over the world.

The baby's father was not her husband.

A week after the baby's birth, the Mexican divorcee had been seeking so frantically from her shocked husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, became official.

Three months later the film star and her Italian lover, Director Roberto Rossellini, were married — by proxy — in Mexico.

The boycott threat against Ingrid's pictures, however, wasn't necessary. "Oroon City" and "Paisan" the Italian movies Rossellini made when he was Anna Magnani's boy friend, were box office champions.

But "Stromboli" and other Italian films he made as Ingrid's husband and director were such artistic flops that no one even bothered to boycott them. Only a few people saw the films in big city theaters which feature foreign movies.

What if they had been hit movies?

Would U. S. moviegoers have flocked to see Ingrid despite "The Bergman Scandal"? After six years, the answer to that question now will be answered with her stardom in "Anastasia" by a powerful Hollywood studio. The play was a hit. The film will be directed by Hollywood's Anatole Litvak.

Ingrid's co-star will be Yul Brynner of "The King and I" fame.

There will be a full-scale publicity campaign on Ingrid's return to the screen in an expensive Hollywood film. Millions of dollars will be poured into the advertising campaign. There are plans for a U. S. personal appearance tour for Ingrid — her first trip to America since becoming the mother of Rossellini's son, Renato, and later twin daughters, Isabella and Ingrid.

Hollywood has taken the sting out of scandal before.

A big studio helped Errol Flynn survive a series of girl charge trials. Mary a movie queen like Rita Hayworth has leaped from one husband to another. Even the recent Hollywood exposes in the scandal magazines haven't hurt certain stars.

Whether Ingrid Bergman can win back her fans is a question.

For several years after the scandal headlines, magazine writers and newsmen wrote glowing reports of the Rossellinis' idyllic marital life in their Roman villa.

But lately, there's talk in Rome that Ingrid and Rossellini are drifting apart. She has taken to going out frequently without him. Rossellini, self-styled genius and egotist — "when I make love, ah, how I make love!" — no longer makes films in Italy.

In the United States, Dr. Peter Lindstrom has remarried. His daughter by Ingrid, now 17, has legally changed her Swedish name of Pia to Jenny Ann and reportedly will spend the summer in Paris with Ingrid — a birthday present from Dr. Lindstrom.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lackey and family visited Sunday with Mrs. Martha Thacker.

Mary Lou Moore and Wanda Frohock visited with Sandra Colbert Saturday night.

South African Frog Used In Pregnancy Tests

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — — The South African frog has taken the place of the rabbit as a test for pregnancy at the San Diego Naval Hospital.

Naval medical officers say the frog has proven 99 per cent accurate, requires much less space and food and may be used for as many as 12 tests. Rabbits must be dissected in the pregnancy test.

In the test, a small amount of the patient's blood plasma is injected into the frog. If the test is positive, small frog eggs appear in the bottom of the jar.

Reason for using the South African frog — officially known as Xenopus laevis — is that this variety of frog is the only one which carries eggs throughout the entire year.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Hollywood and Grapevine. Make way for another singing Crosby—18-year-old Lindsay.

Bing's lad Gary, the first to follow in his pop's footsteps, tipped me that young Lindsay may join the warbling ranks, too. "I don't think his mind is made up yet," Gary said, "but he's got me worried. He sings better than I do. And if he makes up his mind, watch out. He's a killer about everything he does."

A tour with Les Brown's band is next on Gary's career ladder, and then he may join Louis Armstrong on his trip to the Orient to be sponsored by the State Department. Talented Gary has had no change in hat size. His popularity, he explains, is:

"Because I'm the son of Lucky." STERLING HAYDEN hired a governess, pretty Nancy Wilson, for his four children. The kids are crazy about her, and so is Sterling.

Don't worry, men, about those "out-dated" double-breasted suits. Prince Rainier, who swept Grace Kelly off her feet, defied the no-no fashion edict by wearing a new double-breasted job for his first Hollywood press conference.

It's a great, wide, wonderful world for Linda Darnell, who announced to me: "I'm now a gyp."

Back in Hollywood after two and a half years of movie-making in Italy, she's minus career ties and marital chains and thinks it's all jimdandy. A two-time loser in the marriage department (cameraman Pev Marley and millionaire brewer Phil Liebman), Linda told me: "I'm not the type to be married."

AFTER 14 YEARS under contract to Fox—she even graduated from high school there—Linda says she's no longer the type, either, to be under exclusive contract and have to "worry about the pain of death or suspension."

Co-starring with Trevor Howard in "Deception," a big, splashy 20th Century-Fox hour telefilm, Linda's saying:

"I don't want to be trapped in any kind of a dull routine. I want variety in my roles and my life. I don't want to be tied down."

Her Italian-made film, "The Last Five Minutes," put her in the arms of Rossano ("Summertime") Brazzi, and she's flipping over him like all the other dolls—"He has that Italian warmth and sex appeal. He's an utter charmer."

I asked Linda about those Italian glamor babes.

"There's a lot of 'em—and you can take that either way," she quipped.

DURING DENISE Darcel's short marriage to Peter White, he left her in New York during one of his business trips. Escorting the French pastry to a movie premiere, TWA's Bert Fink asked her if she was frightened about staying alone.

"Not since Peter gave me a revolver," she said.

"But aren't you frightened of revolvers?" asked Bert.

"Not thees one," replied Denise. "It shoots—er—what you call 'em—oh, yes—falsies!"

Selected Shorts: Lana Turner's opening a beauty parlor in Acapulco with a partner, Helen Young. It all started, reports hubby Lex Barker, when she had trouble getting her tresses beautified there. Eddie Albert's new record, "Little Child," is in the hot league.

Gift note for men: As a playboy in "Death of a Scoundrel," George Sanders gives all his gal pals gold handcuffs, telling each: "You're now my personal slave."

Tokyo Rose Ordered to Leave U. S. by April 13

CHICAGO — Tokyo Rose today was given until April 13 to get out of the country.

The Department of Immigration and Naturalization notified her that if she has not left voluntarily by then, it will start deportation proceedings.

Window Display Shows Work Of Girl Scouts

Citizens of Harrisburg are invited to visit the Girl Scout window at Webster's Pharmacy in conjunction with Girl Scout week which will end Saturday, March 17. The window displays the work being done by the Girl Scouts in Saline county.

Girl Scouts of Harrisburg and Eldorado will climax Girl Scout week with a rally in the upstairs auditorium of the Harrisburg city hall Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Parents are invited to attend. The Girl Scouts have also begun to sell Girl Scout cookies which is a means of raising funds.

Juliette Gordon Low organized the first American Girl Scout troop on March 12, 1912, in her home town of Savannah, Ga. From this single group of 12 girls, the Girl Scout membership in the United States has grown to two and a half million girls.

In Girl Scouting each girl is important for what she is. Through the use of her "Girl Scout Laws" each girl becomes an active citizen in a girl-sized democracy. She learns to obey orders and to accept responsibility. To "be prepared" and to "do a good turn daily" become a part of her way of living. Through her scout training she will grow to be a good citizen in her community. Girl Scouting is more than a club—it is a way of life.
